

Environmental Protection Authority
Te Mana Rauhi Taiao

The EPA has had grounds approved to reassess 11 synthetic pyrethroids, which are commonly found in household insecticides and veterinary medicines.

More information on this can be found on our website here.

We have released a caution notice for the continued safe use of these products, which can be found here.

We are also making a call for information on these chemicals, more information on this (including the feedback form) can be found here.

As this work progresses, we will keep you updated via the public consultation pages of our website and in our newsletters.

If you would like to get in touch with us about any aspect of our chemical reassessments you can email us at reassessments@epa.govt.nz

Please feel free to forward this email to those who you feel may be interested.

Kind Regards,

Maria McDonald

Acting Team Leader Reassessments, Hazardous Substances and New Organisms